

KONOVER CONSTRUCTION APPOINTS ONOFRIO TO LEAD BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT EFFORTS

30-year industry vet will lead development efforts for entire organization-

FARMINGTON, Conn., January 23, 2008 – Konover Construction Corporation, one of the nation’s leading firms providing preconstruction, construction management, design-build and general contracting services, has appointed Chris-Philip Onofrio as director of business development. In this role, Onofrio will lead the strategic marketing initiatives for the company’s Connecticut and Maryland offices.

“Chris brings more than 30 years of construction experience and familiarity with our target markets,” said Konover Construction Corporation President Mike Kolakowski. “His expertise is an excellent fit for our growth goals in our core markets of senior living & health care, K-12 and higher education, workplace, hospitality and entertainment and retail.”

Prior to joining Konover, Onofrio was project executive of the Connecticut office for Dimeo Construction. His previous experience includes a position as director of construction at Yale University School of Medicine.

Onofrio’s long history of community involvement dovetails with Konover’s corporate philosophy of giving back to the communities in which the company works. The City of New Haven, Yale University and the New Haven Housing Authority recently recognized him for his support of the J. Miller-Person Career Development School and the Construction Workforce Initiative Program. He is past president of the Connecticut Building Congress (CBC) and has served on several committees within the organization.

“Konover is a well-established and respected firm in this industry, and I am excited about working with a company of this caliber,” Onofrio said. “One of the company’s core strengths is its extensive list of clients who choose Konover time and again for their projects. I look forward to supporting those relationships as well as forging new ones.”
